Network information for Performance analysts of all nations

Dear Analysts,

The use of wireless networks will be regulated on site because of the anticipated large amount of individual networks. Therefore we offer you a SSID provided and supervised by us. See below the necessary information to provide in any case.

If you want to use your own system, please make sure that your WLAN is fixed to Channel 1 on the 2.4 GHz frequency band with a max. width 20 MHz. Further, the SSID needs to clearly depict the nation, which will use the network, and the box number. Wireless networks using the 5 GHz frequency are prohibited. In case your WLAN infringes here stated rules, be advised that you are obliged to shut down or reconfigure the said network if IT demands you to do so.
